

By Ella, age 22

Inclusion

Happy

This picture makes me think about when I was in school and I was included in the activities that everyone else had been doing.

Fun

This picture reminds me of when I was in school and I would be having fun with everyone at play time.

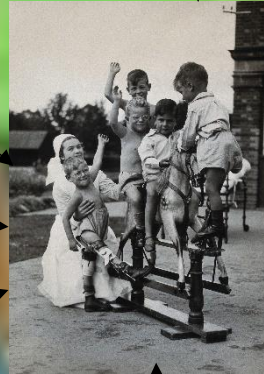

Friends

In this picture it looks like everyone is friends with each other.

Included

In this picture it looks like everyone is included in the activities that everyone else is doing, regardless of what they can or cannot do.

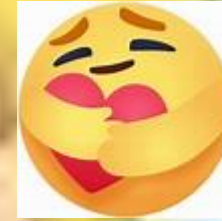

Helping each other

In this picture, it looks like everyone is helping each other rather than the people who are not disabled letting the disabled people struggle.

Caring

In this picture it looks like everyone is being caring towards everyone else that is around them.

Sharing

In this picture it looks like everyone is sharing a fun activity with each other to do at their playtime.

My experiences

I always felt included when I was in school at play time or break time and lunch time when I was in high school.

