

Moving on from residential school or college?

Residential School/College

Adult Life

Are you:

A young person with a learning disability or autism who has moved on from a residential school or college in the past 2 years?

OR

A family carer of a young person with a learning disability or autism who has moved on from a residential school or college in the past 2 years?

If so, we need your help!

We are a small research team, including family carers and people with learning disabilities/autism as advisors, trying to find out more about what happens when young people leave residential school or college. We want to interview young people and family carers about their views and experiences of the transition process. Research findings will be shared widely to help ensure that the move from residential school/college goes smoothly.

The project will provide information about:

- where young people go after residential school/college
- people's experiences (good and bad) of the move
- how the moving on process can be improved for everyone involved

Want to know more? Willing to be interviewed?

Please contact a member of the project team for a chat – we'll be very pleased to hear from you!

Nicola Elson      n.j.elson@kent.ac.uk      01227 823955
Peter McGill      p.mcgill@kent.ac.uk      01227 823838

For more information about the project please see:
https://www.kent.ac.uk/tizard/research/research\_projects/new\_research\_pages/transition\_adult\_care.html?tab=posters-and-presentations

Research project funded by the NIHR School for Social Care Research